

Case Study

Finance Transformation at

THE BUSINESS

The Crown Estate manages a property portfolio with a value in excess of £7.3 billion, and in 2007/08 made a profit of £204m for the benefit of the tax payer. The portfolio encompasses prime residential and commercial property, ancient forests, farms, parkland, coastline and communities, The Crown Estate's role as employer, influencer, manager, guardian, facilitator and revenue creator is unique. The Crown Estate has two main objectives: to benefit the taxpayer by paying surplus revenue generated by its assets directly to HM Treasury; and to enhance the value of the estate and the income it generates.

THE BUSINESS NEED

To enable The Crown Estate to support its strategic aims, finance and other back office processes and systems had to deliver enhanced efficiency and effectiveness, as well as providing timely, relevant and accurate financial and operational data to aid in decision support.

Systems and processes had developed over the years that supported the organisations objectives, but which were not now best placed to support the business going forward. Adventus were initially asked to review options with a view to potentially assisting in making any changes deemed necessary.

THE ADVENTUS SOLUTION

Business Focussed Selection

We worked with The Crown Estate to look at issues and improvements in their finance, project, sales and purchasing processes. Improvements were identified, prioritised and implemented to return quick wins, but it was recognised that in the longer term a new Finance and Enterprise System was required to support the business. The Adventus approach to selecting new business applications is business focussed, and has been proven many times. An initial review of existing business practices and processes was undertaken and the results compared to 'best practice' which enabled new processes to support the organisations strategy to be identified. From this key requirements were used as part of structured demonstrations with short listed software suppliers. Agresso Business World was chosen as the preferred technical solution.

Structured Transformation

A successful program to transform people, process and technology requires a number of components all to work together. Working with internal staff and through the experience of our project managers and consultants we led a successful change program at The Crown Estate, blending the following:

- Structured planning, and a proven project methodology
- Rigorous business and data analysis

"Adventus enabled The Crown Estate to deliver a complex and demanding business change project on time and within budget. Without the assistance of Adventus this would not have been possible."

Project Sponsor
